

Open positions – European Youth Energy Network

Graphic Designer (4-6h/week)

European Youth Energy Forum (EYEF)

Are you a passionate student or young professional, and want to contribute your skills and curiosity towards a strong youth voice in energy? Then the European Youth Energy Network (EYEN) is the right place for you to thrive.

Let's reshape youth engagement in the European energy transition together!

EYEN is the Federation of energy-focused youth organisations in Europe, uniting organisations from across Europe and reshaping youth engagement towards a just, empowered and collaborative energy transition. We advocate for the meaningful engagement of young people in the energy transition, and we create spaces that allow them to have an impact. EYEN's flagship annual event, the first European Youth Energy Forum, produced a position paper with 12 concrete proposals to improve youth engagement in the European energy transition. Drafted with a roadmap for implementation, presented to different stakeholders, debated between sectors, with a team working hard to make change a reality.

To organise the second edition of the European Youth Energy Forum to take place in November 2023, we are building a strong team. We promise that if you join us, you'll embark on a huge learning journey and meet like-minded people from across Europe and beyond.

Will you be a visual magician aka Graphic Designer for the forum connecting the voice of youth in the European energy transition?
